JUNIOR MASTERS

The European Junior Tour 14/16&U came to a climax recently with the Junior Masters event at the Circolo Cittadino Tennis club in Jesi, Italy. Throughout 2003, over 5000 players from around the world have competed for one of the eight spots at the Masters event.

Romanian players dominated the girl's competitions. The 14&U event would prove to be a battle between the two top players of the year, Sorana Cirstea and Raluca Olaru. Top seeded Cirstea won through to the final with a straightforward win over home favourite Corinna Dentoni, followed by a tough three set victory over fourth seeded Dominica Cibulkova of Slovakia, while in the bottom half of the draw, Olaru dropped the first set of her first round match against Eva Kadlecova on a tie break, before winning the next two sets (and those of her semi final against Maja Sujica of Croatia) 63 62.

The elite of European U16 and U14 players gathered in Italy

The final was a repeat of that of the European Individual Championships in Vichy, and the result was the same, although this time Olaru had to work much harder for a 75 26 64 victory. She was later joined in the winners circle by 16&U champion Mihaela Buzarnescu, who swept to the title with victories over Julia Parasuk (RUS), Anna Gerasimou (GRE) and top seeded Katia Sabate

(ESP) without the loss of a set. Despite the loss, Sabate held on to the year end Number 1 position, thanks to her hard-fought wins over Jelena Stanivuk (BIH) and Polona Rebersak (SLO).

If the girl's U14 event was all about Romania, their male counterparts threatened to be overwhelmed by Czech players, who comprised 4 of the 8 qualifiers.

However, only one of those, Roman Jebavy, survived the first round. He followed up his first round win over third seed Mikhail Karpol (CRO) with a straight sets defeat of Mateusz Szmigiel (POL). In the final he came up against Ivan Marevic of Croatia, who had battled his way to the title match with three set wins over Petr Michnev (CZE) and top-seeded Andrei Karatchenia (BLR). The final was a nail biting close affair, with Marevic eventually triumphing 64 36 75

As with the girls, one nation would claim both boys masters titles. Franko Skugor of Croatia followed Marevic's lead to claim the 16&U trophy, with a surprisingly one-sided win over second seed Roberto Velilla (ESP) in the final. Velilla may have felt confident after breezing through the first two rounds for the loss of just four games against Zoran Golubovic (SLO) and Pavel Tchekov (RUS), but was able to garner only the same number himself in the final.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

Stephanie Kamberi caught up with two of the winners of the Junior Masters events in Jesi, Italy.

Michaela Buzarnescu of Romania won the Girls U16 event to finish the year as the #2 ranked U16 in Europe, while Ivan Marevic of Croatia won the U14 Boys event to finish the year ranked fourth.

TE: Congratulations on winning the Junior Masters! What were your expectations when you arrived at this event?

MB: Thank you very much. I was expecting to finish in the first four, but not to win the European Junior Masters, which was the first most successful win in my career so far.

IM: My expectation was to reach the semi-final. Of course it's great that I have won the Under 14 European Junior Masters.

TE: You have had a very consistent year on the European Junior Tour. What has been your favourite event and why?

MB: My favourite event was Rutesheim in Germany, a category 3 tournament. The Tournament Director was so kind and nice to all the players. In the closing ceremony he said some very nice things about me and he gave me some Wild Cards for few professional Tournaments as I was the winner of his tournament.

IM: My favourite event is the Masters because I have won it. Its the first tournament of Tennis Europe that I win and the fact that the best players of Europe competed in this event makes it even more special.

TE: What are your goals for next year?

MB: My goals for next year is to do well in the ITF Tournaments of 10.000 Dollars and to qualify for the Roland Garros Juniors after playing 6 ITF tournaments.

IM: My ultimate goal for next year is to succeed in reaching the top 300 of the ITF Junior rankings.

TE: Do you have any sponsors?

MB: No I don't, and that's my major problem at the moment, because if I do not manage to get a sponsor I do not know how I will manage to continue to play tennis.

IM: Yes I do. I have Babolat and Lotto. These two brands approached me a while ago.

TE: How do you combine studying with all of the tennis that you have to play?

MB: It is really hard to combine both. But I do my best to do so. A great help is the fact that I attend a sports school, which is from 11.30 to 3.30. It gives me time to have a morning session of tennis, from 8.00 to 11.00 and then in the afternoon 4.00 to 7.00. After that I do my homework and try to relax after a long day.

IM: I go to a public school. I manage to combine both of them because of the fact that my teachers understand the work that I have to go through for tennis and they really support me for achieving my goals.

TE: What's the hardest thing about life on the junior circuit?

MB: The hardest thing would be the travelling, always driving or flying to the tournaments.

IM: Travelling! So many long hours with the car.

TE: There are currently many promising juniors from your country. Why do you think this is?

MB: I would say that this is due to the fact that there are a lot of good coaches with the additional help from the parents. The Federation gives us free courts but no money. One problem that we have is the lack of sponsors.

IM: For me what made me a promising junior player is my father. He was the most important person in my career so far. I am training in an academy in Zagreb where I travel from there to a lot of tournaments.

Girls U16 Junior Masters winner Mihaela Buzarnescu (ROM)

IN THE SPOTLIGHT

The Federation helps a lot. They choose some players every year that they send to other tournaments free. After special championships they give them money or pay their expenses to other tournaments as well. They are really active and help us as much as they can.

TE: Do you also enjoy playing doubles? Why?

MB: Yes very much. With doubles you improve your volleys. I have a partner and we have managed to win a lot of Tennis Europe and ITF tournaments. In one case we won 4 doubles tournaments in a row. The only problem by playing doubles is the fact that in tournaments they put you to play one single and one double match in a day. That is really tiring.

IM: Yes I do. I have won the Individual Championships Under 14 in Vichy with my partner Karpol Michail from Croatia and the reason that I enjoy doubles is the fact that you improve some of your shots, like volley and smash.

TE: What's the best piece of tennis advice you have been given?

MB: Once I was losing in a match 7-6, 2-0. While I was playing I remembered my coach telling me that I have to relax, to concentrate and to focus on putting the ball in. Nothing else. That's what I did and I won.

IM: The best advice that I was given so far is the harder you train the best you will become.

TE: Which professional would you most like to play against?

MB: Venus Williams because I just love her style and Justine Henin-Hardenne because she is so small but has a very good serve and tactical game.

IM: I would like to play against Juan Carlos Ferrero because in my opinion he plays the best.

TE: Will you play next year the Winter Cups and Summer Cups of Tennis Europe?

MB: Yes I will. If my Federation chooses me. At the beginning of each year we have a tournament in which the best players of the country participate. The winners are chosen to represent their country at these events. Last year I was injured at the time and could not play, so I'm looking forward to it.

HENIN-HARDENNE ASCENDS TO WORLD #1 AT TENNIS EUROPE PARTNER EVENT

Tennis Europe's Partner Event the Swisscom Challenge in Zurich, Switzerland was once again the scene of much drama as it proved to be one of the pivotal weeks on the WTA tour this season.

The Tier 1 event, traditionally one of the toughest of the winter indoor events, featured the entire top 20, with the exceptions of the recuperating Williams sisters.

Kim Clijsters and Justine Henin-Hardenne, who have fought hard for the number one ranking as the season draws to a close were expected to meet in yet another final, with Clijsters having edged Henin 75 46 62 in Filderstadt the week before, the sixth final of the year between the two Belgian stars.

Jelena Dokic, currently enjoying a return to form after a barren year, was to put a spanner in the works however, with an unexpected three-set win over Clijsters in the semi final.

The final would not be such a competitive affair and Henin, looking supremely confident, breezed through the first set for the loss of just three points. A stunned Dokic was spurred into action and put up a better fight in the second set, but to no avail as Henin won 60 64 for her eighth title of the year.

The 2003 Swisscom Challenge was the 20th Anniversary of the event, formerly known as the European Indoor Championships, and Tennis Europe President John James was on hand at the celebration dinner to present the organisers with an award from Tennis Europe to mark the occasion.

VETERANS TENNIS

The 2003 Veteran's Club Championships for Men (45 and 65 age groups) were decided during the first week of September.

Sixteen teams from eleven countries competed at the Men's 45 Championships, played in Feldkirch, Austria, where the home team of TC Altenstadt (pictured) capped a triumphant week with victory over their Spanish rivals TC La Salut de Barcelona.

Meanwhile in Salzburg, Austria eight teams took part in the Mens 65 Championships, which were dominated by the two top seeded German teams. The final was won by THC Klipper Hamburg, who beat TC RW Eschenried in a final reduced to three rubbers after three consecutive singles wins had put the tie out of reach of the runners-up.

The latest Veterans rankings were published on October 1st, and can be found at the new look ITF website.

MEN'S EUROPEAN CLUB CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 2003 European Club Championships for Men took place in mid-September at the TC Ritspop in Eeklo, Belgium. Clubs from Bosnia & Herzegovina, Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Slovenia and Turkey were playing for the Challenge Trophy, which was first offered in 1967 from the City of Brussels.

In an exciting Final the TC Ritspop was defeated by AS Patton Rennes of France, whose team included 2003 Australian Open Doubles Winner Michael Llodra, ranked No. 4 in the ATP-Team Race. He would turn out to be the outstanding player of the tournament for AS Patton Rennes and made the difference between the two final teams. Full results are available from the Tennis Europe website.

In order to give our readers a better picture of the Club Championships, we spoke to Tennis Europe Vice-President and Chairman of the European Team Championships Committee Pierre-Paul De Keghel.

The European Club Championships for Men have a history of 36 years and also the Club Championships for Women have been played for the 6th time this year. What is your impression of the current situation of these Championships?

The Championships lives but it is going through a very difficult period. It has to find its identity again as so many things have changed in Tennis during the past years.

Even though we had a record number of participants in the Women's Club Championships this year we have to continue working hard and to convince more Clubs to play in what could be a very beneficial event for them.

What has changed in the past years?

For twenty years the European Club Championships was run by clubs and it lived from the network which the Club Presidents and club Member of participants in the Women's Club Championships this year we have to continue working hard and to convince more Clubs to play in what could be a very beneficial event for them.

Why do most of the big clubs not bring their top players?

Every year, there are two or three clubs that play with top players. Two years ago the Real Club de Tennis

bers had. Since 1990 the Championships has been played under the umbrella of Tennis Europe and the personal involvement of those within that network have decreased as they no longer have a direct influence on the Championships, meaning it has become more and more difficult to engage their players.

But the tennis environment in general has changed a great deal over the last decades. In the past the calendar was not so overcrowded and therefore the availability of top players was always assured year-by-year. The financial conditions were also different to engage a player to participate for the Club. In the late eighties we had finals between the Davis Cup Teams of Spain and France, which is nowadays almost impossible as it is too expensive to pay a Top 20 player to participate during a week in these Championships.

de Barcelona had Robredo and Costa amongst others, and this year Llodra was competing for Patton Rennes, but it is correct that most of the Clubs cannot afford to send travelling teams. Usually the Club Sponsors have regional interests and they do not want to support their team playing abroad away from their market. But it works both ways, for example AS Patton Rennes has a very strong Sponsor in Café Legal. It is in their interest that the AS Patton Rennes spreads the brand name all over Europe. Partly for this reason, Rennes participates each year with a very strong team and I would say that the club has become the locomotion of this competition.

What is your vision for the competition?

I think that it's important that we make the National Associations aware that this competition exists and that it is a good opportunity for a Club, not just to gain some International experience but also to exchange information with other Clubs. Many activities have been initiated between clubs meeting through the Championships, such as exchanges of players, training camps and so on.

MEN'S EUROPEAN CLUB CHAMPIONSHIPS

It is also important that more clubs play these Championships. I sense that many clubs are afraid to participate, thinking that they are not good enough due to having no (or not enough) ranked players. This year's finalists, TC Ritspop from Belgium are a fine example to the contrary. They participated with not one ATP-ranked player, but had a great mixed team comprised of young talented players and also with some players in their mid-twenties, who realised that they would not make it to the top of the ATP-rankings and had stopped playing pro tennis some time ago. They were playing fantastic Tennis during one week and it was enjoyable to watch those guys playing.

The Team Championships Committee has to study various possibilities for the Championships and then to decide which direction they want to go with this traditional competition.

What are these possibilities for change?

One option could be to open the competition and to give every Member Nation one slot. That means that not only the Winner & Runner-up of the National Interclub Championships have the Chance to play these Championships. It would give the chance to any Club nominated by the National Association to represent their Country.

Also, the 2003 European Club Championships for Women offered full hospitality and prize money of € 6'000 for the first time, and saw participation increase by 25%. If the option could be extended to the Men's Club Championships, hopefully we would again see beneficial results.

There are of course many other options for the Committee to explore, and I think that we will see some interesting changes in the near future.

EUROPEAN SPECIFIC THEME CONFERENCE 2003

The third edition of the Tennis Europe's biannual European Specific Theme Conference was held in Vilamoura, Portugal from October 18-21st, hosted by the Portuguese Tennis Federation. 50 delegates from 20 countries, plus special guests as far afield as Canada and Lebanon joined 11 speakers for two days of lectures and on-court demonstrations.

The delegates assemble for an on-court presentation in Vilamoura.

Amongst the speakers presenting to the conference for the first time were Craig Tiley, coach to Wayne Ferreira and former South African Davis Cup Captain, and Alvaro Margets of Spain, coach to Fernando Vicente.

They joined conference regulars such as Richard Shoenborn (GER), Frank van Fraaijenhoven (NED), Ivo van Aken (BEL), Frank Zlesak (CZE), Ales Filipcic (SLO), Hans

Markutt (SUI), Helmut Hauer (AUT), Mark Tennant (GBR) and Piotr Unierzyski (POL) in giving their thoughts on this year's theme, 'Strategy and Tactics in Tennis'

The ITF/Tennis Europe Development Programme provided accommodation grants for the nominated delegates of a number of countries, including Cyprus, Malta, Turkey, Latvia, Estonia, Serbia & Montenegro and Moldova.

Most of the delegates then took the opportunity to stay on in Vilamoura for the subsequent ITF Worldwide Coaches Workshop, the largest biannual coaching conference, which was held at the same location from 21st-25th October.

Tennis Europe would like to extend its thanks once again to the Portuguese Tennis Federation, and also to all of the speakers.

2003 TOP EXECUTIVES MEETING

The Top Executives meeting is one of the most important gathering of the year in the Tennis Europe Calendar and it gives the opportunity to the European Chief Executives Officers to meet colleagues and discuss issues of mutual interest, exchange views and share information on current projects.

The Meeting usually held in autumn over one and a half day, consists of three key sessions focusing on current topics, interest to all Member Nations followed by a plenary session on Saturday.

This year 40 participants from all over Europe came together in Brussels, where the Royal Belgium Tennis Federation provided outstanding conditions for the meeting. With top external speakers like Laurent Delanney, Vice-President, Brand Marketing of ATP, Bob Verbeeck, Managing Director Octagon Benelux, Paul De Knop, Free University of Brussels just to name a few the meeting proved to be a big success

The visit of Francesco Ricci Bitti, the ITF President underlined the importance of this meeting in the world of Tennis and encouraged the European CEO's to continue working hard and to take the opportunity to exchange as much information as possible on the occasion of such meetings.

Olli Mäenpää, the Managing Director, External Affairs of Tennis Europe gave an update on Tennis Europe activities and took also the opportunity to announce officially the new partnership between Prince and Tennis Europe, which was welcomed by the Tennis Europe family with a great deal of enthusiasm.

EUROPEAN GIRLS INDIVIDUAL CHAMPIONSHIPS U16

The last of this European Individual Junior Championships, the Girls 16&U category, was held during the week of 21-28 September at Tennis Club Ritspop in Eeklo, Belgium.

Showing further evidence of their increasingly impressive credentials, it was, as has often been the case this year, two Romanian players who made their way to the final by overcoming surprise semi finalists. In the top half of the draw, Monica Niculescu convincingly beat unseeded Italian Giulia Gabba, who had won through to the final with victories over the third and eighth seeds. Meanwhile Madalina Gojnea took out Aravane Rezai of France, who had also removed two of the top 8 seeds.

The final was a straightforward victory for Gojnea, who beat her compatriot for the loss of just three games. The two players then teamed up to win the doubles event over the Belgian pair of Désirée Bastianon and Claudia Smolders.

For full results please check the Tennis Europe website.

EUROPEAN TOP TEN

The European rankings see some considerable changes ahead of the final events of the season, the ATP and WTA World Championships. The top 4 European men and women have qualified for their respective events, and the world #1 ranking is on the line at both.

Kim Clijsters remains at #1 on our list, despite being briefly dislodged from the pole position by compatriot Justine Henin Hardenne last month. Henin Hardenne's gamble of resting in the run up to the season ending championships looks likely to pay off however, as she has only to reach the semi finals in order to finish the year at the top.

Other players to impress during the indoor season include Amélie Mauresmo, whose victory in Philadelphia reverses a loss to Myskina in the final of Moscow, and Jelena Dokic, whose run in Zurich (including a win over Clijsters) will go some way to ease the memories of what has been a disappointing season for her.

The men's competition is equally as tight, with Juan Carlos Ferrero and Andy Roddick swapping places at the top during the last few weeks. Whatever happens in Houston, Ferrero looks assured of finishing the year as the top European.

Another player finishing the year well is Britain's Tim Henman, who thanks to a memorable victory at the Masters Series event in Paris climbs 20 places in the ATP Race, and appears on our list for the first time in a year.
